~ DECEMBER 2013 ~

'Tis the season of family, light, gratitude, joy, generosity, promise. A time for celebrating, looking back, and planning for the future.

As you prepare your calendar for 2014, be sure to include CAA's schedule of meetings, guest artist presentations, workshops, exhibits and field trips.

January is full of promise for Collage Artists of America!

~ JANUARY 2014 ~

GENERAL MEETING - JANUARY 24 - 10:30-1:00

Pickwick Gardens Conference Center, Regency Room

1001 Riverside Drive, Burbank CA 91506

HOPE KROLL is a 3-D paper collage artist who combines an affinity for antique books with meticulous cutting skills to create extremely intricate and compelling images. Her source materials range from old encyclopedias and medical texts to children's books and technical manuals. The images and papers found within their pages provide an aged patina and unknown history that contribute to her diverse and intriguing narratives. For more information, visit Hope's website or the Meetings page on CAA's website.

3-DAY WORKSHOP - JANUARY 28 - 30 - 9:30-4:00

Canoga Park Women's Club

7401 Jordan Avenue, Canoga Park CA 91303

GERALD BROMMER: "UNIQUE SURFACES FOR WATERMEDIA"

In his exciting new workshop, Gerald Brommer will present the development and use of incredibly rich, textured surfaces for paint or collage. The surfaces are hand-built by combining any variety of textured materials into unique, low-relief, sculpture-like supports. Once the surface is complete, it is covered with white gesso; when dry, the support is ready for paint, paper... or your application of choice!

The entire process is intriguing and challenging, and is a new and unexplored direction in watermedia work.

CAA members have priority enrollment through December 23, 2013. Non-members may begin enrolling beginning December 24, 2013 on a space-available basis or until workshop is filled, whichever occurs first. Enrollment ends January 15, 2014.

For further information, registration and payment, please visit the Workshops page on CAA's website.
